

New Horizon School-Los Angeles Weekly Bulletin

Edition 1, Volume 3

October 15, 2007

Hey, that's News to Us!

Here are a few reminders:

- We are reverting back to the original school schedule from today. Parents remember that school will end at 3:30pm. Please make sure you pick up your students on time to avoid the late fee.
- Late orders for the Cookie & Wrapping Paper sale are still being accepted till Friday, October 19th. Please remember that all students are required to sell a minimum of 5 items. This is a requirement for all students to raise funds.

- School Picture Day is coming up this Friday, October 19th, 2007. Please look through the picture information packets sent home tomorrow. All students will be required to be in full-dress uniform for the pictures.

Parent Volunteerism

This week the administration, faculty, and staff of New Horizon School-Los Angeles wants to commend Salma Ambia, mother of Armanul and Abrarul Ambia, and Shireen Khalil, mother of Amina Khalil, for volunteering during Taraweeh childcare services to help raise funds for the school. As they helped raise funds for the school they also started to fulfil their parent-service hour commitment. Congratulations to both of you!

If any parent would like to start fulfilling their parent-service hours, please see Mrs. Shahana or Mrs. Rohanah in the office. There are many upcoming events that you can get involved in, so please keep reading The Weekly Bulletin for more details and opportunities.

Parent-Teacher Conferences

Parent-Teacher Conferences are scheduled for this Monday, October 22nd, 2007. There will be no school this Monday in order to accommodate the conferences. Please sign up for a time to meet with your children's teachers in the office this week.

Progress Reports

Progress reports will be distributed this Friday, October 19th. The grades reflected are a direct result of the Fall Monthly Tests. Please be sure to discuss any concerns you may have with your children's teachers during the Parent-Teacher Conferences. Please refrain from interrupting teachers on-duty to discuss your child's progress as they will not be fully prepared to do so.

School Spirit

An important tool to student success is school spirit. Studies have shown that the more involved with the school a student and their family is, the better the student does in school.

School spirit is a multi-faceted ideology. School spirit is the amount of passion, zest, zeal, or enthusiasm exhibited for school. In order to ensure student success, participation in school fundraisers, school organizations, and school events is a must. School spirit can be shown in a variety of ways. Fundraising is an important way of showing school spirit. School spirit is in essence how much one supports the school. As the school your children attend, it is of utmost importance that you show your support for New Horizon. Please make every effort to support the school in all of its fundraisers and events.
